

Diabetes Intelligence – Program description

Diabetes Intelligence is a Patient Education program that is offered free to doctors for their patient waiting room

The program features the latest information on Diabetes and is compiled from highly credible sources like the dLife.

Editorial is displayed in a handsome oak frame poster and take Home booklets are available for patients in the accompanying booklet rack. The program is completely free and there is nothing you need to do to maintain it. We will come install it and then periodically come back to change out the editorial content. We also have an 800 number you can call if you have any questions or need additional materials

Possible question: does this have advertising? Answer is: Yes, we do have only one advertiser and that is why we are able to offer the service to doctors for free